

Disabilities

Students with physical, neurological, emotional, or learning disabilities which may affect their academic performance may request reasonable accommodations for such disabilities. To do so, a student must provide documentation of their disability and the nature of its effect on academic performance to the Director of the Morrow Academic Center (MAC). Each semester students must request in writing accommodations, and the MAC staff will share the accommodation request with the students' course instructors.